

We fund, support and promote the impact of health research that matters to Saskatchewan.

SHRF's investment strengthens research capacity and competitiveness; advances local solutions to complex health challenges; and enables connections between stakeholders who contribute to and/or mobilize health research knowledge.

SHRF seeks to engage local and national partners to align research with the needs of the province, increasing the investment in quality research for better health care and healthier communities.

KEY ACTIVITIES

Develop and execute research funding competitions aligned with the needs of the province

Uphold a rigorous peer review process that ensures quality and relevance of applications, and supports growth and capacity building for reviewers and researchers

Partner with other organizations to maximize efficiencies, reduce duplication and increase impact of health research investments and activities

Measure impact and share stories of our investments and activities on the overall health of the province

Act as a trusted and neutral convener of multiple stakeholder groups, possessing in-depth knowledge, an unbiased view and expertise adding value and unique insights into the Saskatchewan research ecosystem
